Other Burglaries, Car Lootings Among Series Of 21 Weekend Crimes

Burglars broke into a furniture store from which they took $500 worth of television sets during the weekend, took cash from a residence in another break-in and stole $108 worth of office equipment from a business firm. Four thefts from parked autos also were among 21 crimes reported to Quad-City authorities.

Three portable television sets, valued at $500, were stolen Saturday night in a break-in discovered Sunday afternoon at Umler's Furniture, store, 2200 Cleveland Blvd.

The burglars broke a glass in a basement door to gain entrance and then knicked out a door panel to crawl inside the store. They carried the sets out the back door. Taken were a 15-inch portable color set worth $250; an eight-inch set valued at $88 and an 18-inch set worth $178.

House Ransacked

He reported at 4:55 p.m. Four rooms were ransacked, and numerous items were left in the ceiling and bedroom of the house. He added that the right front window of his 1958 auto also had been cracked.

Clinton L. Emery, 1904 Joy avenue, reported at 9:30 p.m. Thursday that two persons entered the tool shed at the rear of his home and tried to take a motor scooter from his back yard. Nothing was taken. A radio valued at $120 was stolen from the home of Steve Purkiple, 1518 Fifth street, Madison, police reported at 7:35 p.m. yesterday. Officers said the radio apparently was stolen through a partly open window in the kitchen. Rev. R. Paul Sims Is Promoted to Head District

The Rev. R. Paul Sims, senior minister of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, announced to his congregation yesterday that he would be leaving his present assignment in June. Bishop Lance Webb, episcopal head of the Illinois Area of The United Methodist Church, has appointed Sims as superintendent of the Carbonate District of The United Methodist Church.

The new district superintendent will replace the Rev. Robert Gordon, who will join the staff of Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville, Ill., in its program of parish development.

Rev. Sims has served the Niedringhaus Church for the past six years. His new assignment will involve leadership of a district containing 91 churches served by 50 pastors. Rev. Sims and his family will reside in Carbondale.

Prior to his coming to Granite City, Rev. Sims had served pastorates in Belleville, Chester and DuQuoin. In addition to his pastoral duties, he presently serves as chairman of the Conference Program Council, a member of the board of trustees of McKendree College, chairman of the Area Commission on Public Relations and United Methodist Information, and a member of the Board of Ministry of The Southern Illinois Conference.

The Martie's also are the parents of a son, Russell Dean, 2½ years. The father is employed as a sheet metal worker from the aircraft manufacturing firm.

GC Youth Injured in Auto-Train Accident

9 Other Persons Hurt In 6 of 29 Traffic Mishaps in Quad-Cities

Injuries were suffered by 10 persons in seven of 29 traffic accidents occurring over the weekend in and near the Quad-Cities. Among the injured was a local youth whose auto crashed into a train.

An auto driven by Jerry Jackson, 18, of 22 Fairway Estates, Arlington Heights, struck the 28th car of a Norfolk & Western freight train, injuring the driver, at about 11 p.m. Thursday at Route 162 on Meadowlark lane.

The auto was dragged about 100 yards and was a total wreck. The engineer was Claude Pickettine, Charleston, Ill.

Jackson was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with multiple abrasions to the forehead, contusions to the face and abrasions to both hands and arms. He also suffered scratches to both eyes from which cinders were removed, a cracked jawbone and loosened teeth.

As he was in poor condition Friday, he was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital in St. Louis for further treatment. His condition today was described as fair.

Auto Hits Restaurant

Donald L. Riverburgh, 22, of 2321 Clark avenue, was injured when his auto went out of control and smashed into the wall of the Idlewood Inn on Route 157 across the street from Edwardsville high school at 1:20 a.m. Friday.

A 4x4-foot hole was knocked out of the corner of the building, damaging the interior walls, juke box and a coat rack. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital where x-rays were taken of the skull, spine, ribs, right clavical and both knees. He was released Saturday morning.

SATURDAY'S STRONG WINDS split a cottonwood tree shortly before noon, causing it to fall across the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Corbett, 5132 Old Alton road. The damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Wind Topples Tree Onto Home On Old Alton Rd.

Wind gusts up to 58 mph caused damage to trees and property throughout the Quad-Cities on Saturday, and on Old Alton road south of Mitchell a large cottonwood tree was split and fell across the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Corbett.

The Corbetts, who live at 5132 Old Alton road, were at home, but no one was injured, although damage to the front of the house was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Corbett, a civil service employee in St. Louis, said he and his wife were in the basement and the two daughters, Karen, 12, and Carolyn, 6, were in the kitchen when the tree fell shortly before noon.

"We figured it was the wind," Corbett said, adding that there was considerable damage inside the house as well as to the exterior.

The ceiling in the front room was knocked down, and with damage to the roof and the possibility of rain, Corbett and acquaintances moved furniture from the house into the garage. Utility lines also were pulled down and the large section fell.

The Corbetts have lived in the house about a year and a half. Police received several calls concerning large tree limbs that had fallen, one of which extensively damaged a car owned by Norma Grant, 2453 Morrison street, which was parked in a driveway at 2208 Iowa street.

The limb split off a large tree located behind the Corbett house about a year and a half. Police also were called to 27th street and Edison avenue where a large limb was reported down at 12:50 p.m., and to 2616 State street at 3:35 p.m. to dislodge a hanging limb which had split loose from a tree.

Street department workers were kept busy throughout the afternoon picking up limbs. No disruption of power or telephone service was reported.

In just two minutes, police noted Shelton's auto failed to make the jog at Klein and Bissell streets and jumped the curb to crash into the confectionery operated by Ethel Winslow. No estimate was given for the damage to the small building.

E. St. Louis Says Levee District Fee Claim Unfair

The city of East St. Louis considers "unfair and unreasonable" a fee of more than $40,000 which the East Side Levee and Sanitary District claims is owed it by the city for treatment of sewage discharged into the levee district's sewage treatment system by city sewer users.

George Washins, assistant to East St. Louis Mayor Alvin G. Fields, said the city is willing to work out a reasonable agreement with the levee district involving a fee of about $10,000 to $12,000 a year. He described the levee district fee claim as exorbitant.

The controversy over fee payments for treatment of sewage discharged into the levee district lines by 226 East St. Louis sewer users developed last week when the levee board decided to take no action on a request by the city for permission to connect an interceptor on the levee district trunk line until the city settles the bill it already owes for sewer rental. Levee board members were discussing the city's request at the same time the city council was opening bids for a sewer project that includes tapping into the levee district trunkline to pump sewage to the city treatment plant. Washins pointed out that the city now collects $1 per month from each city sewer user.

Says Claim Unfair
 He said the levee district's claim for 92 cents of the $1 for the 226 users now tapped into the levee district line is unfair, although David Johnston, city consulting engineer and also a consulting engineer for the levee district, proposed the 92 cents payment on behalf of the city in a levee board meeting about three months ago.

Levee board members, basing their claim on the 92-cent city offer projected by Johnston, point out that 92 cents per customer per month for the 18 months the levee district treatment plant has been in operation would amount to more than $40,000.

At the same time Washins admitted that costs of constructing the proposed city diversion sewers to take the Lansdowne sewage to the city treatment plant would increase greatly if the levee district does not allow the city to tap into the levee district trunk line.

In that case the city would have to intercept about 12 city lines in Lansdowne. Levee board members concurred last week in a suggestion by William "Mike" Ebersold that nothing be done about granting a city tap-in on the levee district trunkline until the debt is settled.

The city of East St. Louis has the fees whatever on its use of the trunk line since it began operation 18 months ago, although the city has been collecting from the 226 users on the line, levee board members noted.

Madison Police Break Up 'Hippie' Party

Madison police broke up what they termed was a "hippie" party about 5:30 a.m. yesterday when cruising officers noticed a number of youths entering a house on Madison avenue carrying beer.

Police, who said the youths were dressed in a "gay" way, took several of them to police headquarters and questioned them. After learning the boys were going to a "party," officers went to the residence and found about 50 persons at the house. Most of them were about 18 or 19 years of age, police said.

Police told the occupant of the house was being the party to break it up. Most of the cars parked around the house bore Missouri license plates, officers reported. No arrests were made.

Two Persons Issued Six Traffic Tickets

Two persons were issued a total of six tickets at 12:30 a.m. Saturday when an auto driven by Jeffrey J. Johnson, 2513 Madison avenue, was stopped by police at Nameoki road and Madison avenue.

Johnson was charged with reckless driving, driving while his license was suspended, illegal transportation of liquor and using someone else's driver's license. A passenger, William P. Brown, 3007 Warren avenue, was charged with leaving his license to another person and with illegal possession of alcohol.

Venice Fire Call

Acar owned by Ruby Williams was damaged by fire at 1:40 a.m. today while it was parked on the Venice city hall parking lot, adjacent to the fire station. Firemen said the fire apparently was caused by a cigarette that had fallen behind a seat. Damage to the interior was estimated at $25.

The city of East St. Louis has the fees whatever on its use of the trunk line since it began operation 18 months ago, although the city has been collecting from the 226 users on the line, levee board members noted.

Click Brothers Arrive Home from Far-Flung Bases

A reunion of three Air Force brothers who, through "sheer luck, good fortune and some wangling," managed to secure furloughs at the same time, took place this weekend in Granite City to the delight of their parents.

The brothers are Alrman First Class James E. Click, 21, Sgt. David B. Click, 20, and Alrman First Class Curtis H. Click, 18. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Estle H. Click, 3040 Dale avenue, who also are the parents of Mark, 13, Clay, nine and Judy, six.

All three servicemen are former Press-Record delivery boys and their younger brother, Mark, currently is following in their footsteps. Curtis and David also were employed at the Granite City News, where they helped in the office and made deliveries from age 14.

David, presently serving a three-year tour of duty at Torjeon Air Base near Madrid, Spain, is enjoying a 30-day leave at home. He will return to Spain May 20 for an additional 12 months duty.

He has served in Turkey and expects to be re-assigned there for another brief period upon his return overseas. David is a 1966 graduate of Granite City high school and enlisted in the Air Force on Feb. 21, 1967.

Curtis, a 1968 graduate of the local high school, volunteered for Air Force last October. He will depart May 23 for his new station at Clark Air Base in the Philippines, where he has been assigned as an electronics specialist.

The Click's oldest son, James, entered the Air Force on July 30, 1966, shortly after graduating from Granite City high. He has served in England and presently is on leave from Sewart Air Base in Tennessee. Both David and James are in ground power operations and mechanics at their respective stations.

All three boys are "very Air Force oriented," according to their mother, who noted that the youths' father is a world war II Navy veteran.

Cooperation On Clean Air Rules Urged by Speaker

Illinois and Missouri industries must cooperate in air pollution control programs or face public criticism, Paul B. Hodges, a member of the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board, told a group of about 60 industrialists Friday night.

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Industrial Waste Control Council at Holiday Inn, Sunset Hill, Hodges pointed out that July 5, 1970 will be the deadline for states in this area to implement standards for sulphur-dioxide and particulate emissions. Upon failure to do so, Hodges emphasized, the federal government will step in.

Hodges was introduced by Bruce E. Kester, president of the waste control council which is made up of 15 Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area industries and five industrial related organizations, who told the group that the present standards of air pollution control standards are one of relative calm, but public hearings will open soon.

Pressed for Action

Kester said St. Louis area industries are being pressed by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to take action in cleaner air through the recent formation of a regional district and the issuance of criteria for sulphur-dioxide and particulate emissions.

The regional district includes Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties on the Illinois side and St. Charles, St. Louis and Jefferson counties in Missouri.

Hodges noted that criteria issued by the HEW are not standards, that the state is to determine the standards of emission. He pointed out that in event the states do not act, then the federal government would intervene.

Prefer Intervention

Some industrialists attending the meeting said they viewed federal intervention as possibly the best move, noting that fair competition might develop as result of control in this region, and lack of control upstate.

Illinois presently does not have any standards for air pollution control, but will be forced to come up with them, Hodges told the meeting.

The governors of Illinois and Missouri will be required to submit a "letter of intent" to the federal government by July 10 under the present regional timetable, he added.

Bennett New Nameoki Township Inspector

The Nameoki township board of health appointed Ronnell Bennett as town inspector at a meeting Friday night.

The board, composed of Supervisor Harry Briggs, Joseph Cohen and Louis Whitsell, held off on the appointment of a second inspector to determine if the $1200 salary appropriated for the position could be utilized in other services.

The board named two rabies control commissioners at salaries of $50 a month each. They are William Ellis, who will serve the State Park, East Madison, Arlington Heights and Stallings areas, and Stanley Droege, who will serve other areas.

Previously one rabies commissioner received $100 per month.

The mosquito spraying program started Saturday afternoon along standing ponds, according to Whitsell, city clerk.

Whitsell noted that the town board appropriated $800 for a dog pound in April 1964, but the money was never used. It was suggested that it would be more economical to appoint someone to take the dogs to the county pound near Edwardsville at a fee of $1 per dog.

It also was suggested that the town inspector and rabies control officers make monthly reports to town board meetings.

The town board of auditors meets on the second and fourth Mondays of the month.

WARRIORS TO WATCH—(from left) I. Steve "Hurricane Hurler" Harris is the probable starter against Collinsville today. With a curve and a fast ball, Harris has been a work horse for the team. Fleet outfielder Mike Pekarik has been weak in the hitting department but Warrior coach Gale Garbe is likely to bolster the defense with him. GCHS has been able to score during only one inning in two games against Collinsville. Kahok pitcher Bruce Fields. Fields allowed a walk and two triples after two outs in the last inning, but the Warriors can't depend on last minute success. Catcher, Roger Belshe. First baseman, James Becker. Shortstop, Gary Simpson. When asked, what it will take to beat the Warriors, Kahok coach Don Davidson an-

District Baseball Meet Opens Here Today

The Granite City district high school baseball tournament will be played daily at 4 p.m. this week in Wilson Park beginning today. Granite City's Warriors opens today against the Collinsville Kahoks.

Madison's Trojans will meet the Edwardsville Tigers Tuesday. The winners of the previous games will clash Wednesday to decide who will be advanced to the state regional tournament in Edwardsville.

Always impressive in tournament play the Warriors are fired up for today's game, riding on a three-game winning streak including an impressive no-hit shutout over tough Assumption.

The Warriors closed the regular season with a possible second place in the Southwestern conference, pending the outcome of other previously rained out games.

Earlier in the season in a defensive dual, the Kahoks bested the Warriors, 1-0 with an earned run. Last Monday, Collinsville again claimed an unearned run but a last minute rally gave Granite a 2-1 win.

First-base Warrior James Becker carries a big bat. He leads the team in hits, doubles, triples, and RBI's with the best batting average of .333.

Only Becker keeps shortstop Gary Simpson from being the number one batman. Simpson is second in hits and RBI's with a .320 average.

Second baseman Don Harris is the team's third .300 hitter. Since his late beginning as a regular, Harris has averaged .304.

Roger Belshe was selected to the all-metro team in his sophomore and junior years and this year, again, he is one of the best catchers in the metropolitan area.

Outfielder Jerry Monahan leads the team in stolen bases and has the fourth best batting average.

Kahok coach Don Davidson has no inflated pretensions about his young team, but based on

Boyles Hurls No-Hitter in 1-0 GC Win at Assumption

Granite City high school pitcher Jeff Boyles hurlled a no-hitter Thursday as the local Warriors shutout Assumption of East St. Louis in a 1-0 duel on the losers diamond.

Boyles had a perfect game going until the seventh inning when, with two out, Assumption saw its only base runner safe at first on an error.

Assumption pitcher Joe Caradonna also was effective during most of the game, but he was tagged for a homerun by Warrior catcher Roger Belshe in the sixth inning.

The Warrior game at Staunton Friday was cancelled because of wet grounds.

Local Man Hurt In Blast at Refinery

N. C. Outland of 3110 East 23rd street, was one of eight men injured in an explosion at the Shell Oil Refinery in Roxana on Thursday.

Employed as a foreman for the Arthur J. McKee Construction Co., Outland was seriously injured. He was treated by a physician and will have a return for check-ups for his ears and nose. He was able to return to work for the Friday morning shift.

A Shell company spokesman said an accumulation of acetylene gas in a tool box on a construction site was the cause. The explosion did not cause a fire, nor did it halt the company's operations.

One of the men, Virgil Pruitt, 47, of Wood River was admitted in serious condition to Alton Memorial Hospital, with burns to most of his body and facial lacerations. The other workmen were all treated at the hospital and released.

State Park Sewer Plan To Await Canteen Project

Further progress toward construction of sanitary sewers in State Park Place will await development of a sewer construction project in the unincorporated area of Canton township in St. Clair county, with which the proposed State Park sewer would be connected.

Plans for the State Park sewer by Nanticoke township were among four separate projects approved by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council through which all area project planning must be cleared before federal funds can be sought.

Briggs said that Canton township has received a federal grant to aid in building sewer lines and a true line that would serve as an outlet for the State Park Place sewers. The Canton trunk line will be served by the Landow sewage treatment plant operated by the East Side Levee and Sanitary district.

Must Await Planning
Some engineering details remain to be completed before work is begun on the Canton system, Briggs said. Nanticoke township therefore must await completed planning of the Canton system before preparing detailed plans for the State Park system and applying for federal funds. The State Park system is estimated to cost $25,000.

The East-West Gateway Council also approved an application for federal funds that would finance about half of a proposed highway improvement on Route 203 between Ponton Road in Granite City and Interstate 270 at Mitchell. Construction of a four-lane highway with median, to cost about $2 million, has been in the planning stage for the past several years.

Most of the right-of-way for the Route 203 project has been obtained. Robert Kronst, District 8 engineer at French Village, said no construction work on the project is expected to be included in the highway department's 1970 work schedule.

Grants Depend on Freeze
Federal funds will not be allocated for the project until the federal "freeze" on U. S. highway allocations to Madison and St. Clair county is lifted.

Other projects approved by the Gateway Council include a $1.7 million request for federal funds to improve the water system in the Fosterburg area of Madison county, and a proposed safety project on Route 181 in St. Clair county from U. S. 50 to a point 1.3 miles south of the intersection.

Kronst said this improvement will cost about $1.5 million and will be given priority over the Route 203 project. Work may begin this year, he said.

Dog Club Members Oppose Proposed Law

Jerome Ficken Jr., president of the Quad-City All Breed Dog Club, a newly-organized group, this week expressed the concern of area dog fanciers for two bills recently introduced in the Illinois General Assembly which, if enacted, will curtail hobby breeders of dogs in Illinois.

A bill introduced April 10 in the Senate by William D. Lyons (D), states in part: "relating to the sale of household pets. Provides that no person shall sell household pets unless the care, training, breeding, keeping or selling of the household pets constitutes the principal business of such person."

If passed, the bill go into effect Oct. 1, 1969. A similar bill was introduced in the House of Representatives about the same time by Louis F. Caupz (R).

Ficken said the bill's restrictions would prohibit any breeder, whether he breeds only one litter or ten litters a year, from selling puppies from such breedings. "This would seriously affect the activities of everyone in the state who is engaged in any phase of hobby breeding," Ficken noted.

The local dog fancier urged persons interested in continuing hobby breeding in Illinois to write immediately to their state representative or senator strongly urging that each of them vote "no" on these bills.

The senate bill is numbered 929 and in the house, Bill 1539. Ficken said. Both bills must be defeated as the provisions of each are the same, he added.

Auto Speeds, 2 Collide

An auto speeding on the lot at the Nameoki Village shopping center caused autos driven by Harriet H. Malwitz, Rural Route One, and Susan E. Abbott, 4008 Mueller avenue, to swerve into a collision at 7:40 p.m. Thursday.

Driver Backs into Auto

An auto driven by Robert R. Russell, Bend road, who was backing up, struck the right front of an auto driven by Leona M. Furtak, 2541 Morrison road, who had stopped at 1800 Madison avenue at 3 a.m. Saturday.

Conduct Charge

A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against Willie R. Smith, 31, of 1104 Douglas street, who was arrested Friday afternoon in a house in the 1100 block of College street by Venice police.

Persons interested in continuing hobby breeding in Illinois to write immediately to their state representative or senator strongly urging that each of them vote "no" on these bills.

The senate bill is numbered 929 and in the house, Bill 1539. Ficken said. Both bills must be defeated as the provisions of each are the same, he added.

Recalling the 'War to End War'

"Promise of Greatness, the War of 1844-45," edited by George A. Panichas, New York, John Day Co., $72 pages, $12.

Reviewed by Jim A. Hart, a member of the Department of Journalism Faculty of Southern Illinois University. (Review published in the Daily Egyptian, SIU Journalism Department, Carbondale.)

This collection of 42 original essays about the Great War of 1844-1845 is a remarkable and rare contribution to history.

All of these essays were written especially for this volume, published in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the war.

Thirty-six contributors were either participants in the war or were old enough to remember conditions on the home front.

The six other writers are scholars who appraise the impact of the war on social, cultural and religious life.

British, essayists present the French, Italian, German, and American viewpoints are also presented.

All of the contributors are recognized scholars, authors or journalists.

Since most of the writers are now in their seventies and a few in their eighties (the oldest being the 88-year-old historian, Esmé Wingfield-Stratford), it seems almost incredible that these men can look back from the "vantage point of 50 years and do little more than sentimental reminiscence.

Some of the most vivid, and certainly some of the best, writings in this volume recall the stench, the deadly dullness, the filth, the mud, the lack of sleep—the hell of trench warfare.

Inevitably there is comparison with World War II, with the Korean conflict, and even with the war in Vietnam.

Many contributors referred to the letters they had written to the friends they had to refresh their memories.

In fact, there are so many references to these sources that the reader begins to wonder whether these men did not spend as much time writing as they did fighting.

But there is evaluation, too, in every essay, whether it is criticism of military tactics, ineptness, of a class society, or whether it is a kind of gentle praise for Kitchener's Army, which after all was war.

Most agreed that the "Great War," as it is called in England, was the dividing point between the safe, calm Victorian days and the beginning of an era of change that spread across the earth and is rapidly continuing today.

The Great War was not "the war to end all wars."

It began other wars.

It ushered in modern warfare, military tactics and strategy that have led to the fear of an atomic holocaust.

It transformed men.

It changed attitudes on religion, education, morale and morals.

As Henri Massis wrote, it has never ceased "to mark our work and our days."

W. E. B. DuBois, explaining the effect of the war on women, told of writing to her brother in the trenches that the end of the war would mark the end of the kind of division in human history "as that of 'B.C.' and 'A.D.'"

Fifty years later, she did not think her prediction of 1917 far wrong.

Mr. Panichas divides the essays into seven groups.

In the first division, "A Total View," the British point of view was given by Robert Graves, who valued the war because it gave him "an un-Frenchified standard of danger, discomfort and horror," by which he could "judge more recent troubles," and because it gave him a confidence in Englishmen which even "the luxury of the new plastic age" could not disturb.

Roland Dorgelès explained the French point of view.

While hoping that "tomorrow's nations" will learn peace, he does not want France "to lose its identity and become merely a district in a flat-faced Europe."

The next three divisions of this volume—"The Fighting Front," "The Men of War," and "Awakening"—are made up of 28 essays that carry the action from London to the French trenches to Alpine warfare to Mesopotamia.

R. C. Sheriff, author of "Journey's End," discussed the English public schools and went on to provide leadership for the enlisted men.

Sir Geoffrey Keynes discussed the war from a doctor's point of view.

Alec Waugh explained why men who come home from the war with a spirit of crusade against such conditions turned to enjoying themselves while they could.

In the next division, "Socialist Perspectives," essayists discussed the effect of the war on the liberal movement, on British decolonization, on religious attitudes.

Pierre Renouvin concluded that not in Italy did public opinion trends have a "determining influence on government decisions" at the outset of the war, but that public opinion played a greater role in seeking peace.

The section on "Literature of War" is perhaps the most interesting, not because the reader cares little for Rupert Brooke or Virginia Woolf or for any of the creative writers of the time but because the essays tend to be scholarly magazine articles.

The value in this particular section lies more in the generalizations about the effect of war on creativity than in those about the individual writer.

The last essay, the only one in the section which Mr. Panichas calls "The Gull," was written by Correlli Barnett.

His article, "The Illogical Promise," is a kind of summary.

Barnett's theme is that the Great War began or quickened an element of Western society "from one of privilege to one of participation."

He pointed out that in questions of national and international relations, public opinion today makes most difficult the solutions demanded by the reality of the problems.

Coming, as it does, at a time when much mature thought is being given to the subject of the war, this volume is particularly welcome.

The essays, as a group, capture the mood and meaning of this rupture point in modern European civilization.

No one author could achieve the historical impact that these writers as a group have done.

Cities, Townships Should Meet, Candidly

Discuss Annexation Advantages, Drawbacks

The importance of development of more effective annexation policies here is borne out by the latest figures of the St. Louis chapter of the American Statistical Association.

Cities like Granite City and Madison are remaining relatively static in their population while Alton is believed to have risen from 43,000 to 48,500 since 1960, Belleville from 37,000 to 41,500, Cahokia from 15,800 to 19,100, Collinsville from 14,200 to 17,000, Centerville from 12,800 to 14,300 and Wood River from 11,700 to 13,100.

Extension of Madison municipal services to East Alton and provision of Granite City services to East Alton and provision of Granite City services to some of the territory to its north and east would break existing territorial barriers and benefit families which regard their current government as inadequate.

This sounds and is attractive, but has been largely blocked. Factors include these five:

1. Part of the reason the issue of annexation is so touchy to many self-sufficient rural politicians have labeled it a plot by scheming officials intent on getting more tax dollars into their clutches.

Actually, the municipal taxes that would be added would be partly offset by deletion of some of the other taxes now collected in unincorporated areas. And while annexation is desirable for a city, it is not desirable for a township. The gain is not really a bonanza; in fact, residential areas usually pay less than the cost of extending city police, drainage, street and other services to them.

2. We suspect that there also has been some effect from an "anti-Granite City" whispering campaign by party hacks who do not consider the city to be "regular" enough in its politics.

3. Still another element in citizens' hesitation to annex may be misinterpretation of their own bills. Since the city has been through city-town collectors, some families may conclude that these agencies are the main recipients of their property taxes. The fact is that nearly two-thirds of the taxes are redistributed to schools and at a tax rate that applies equally to city and non-city property. Cities spend only a small fraction of the total.

4. The relationship between municipal and unincorporated areas is too hazy. Some out-of-the-city residents would like to annex but don't know how to go about it, or how many of their neighbors would like to annex and go along with them. Cities have not developed clear annexation policies to guide their own administrators or the people considering asking to be included within the boundary.

5. Illinois law fails to outline "ground rules" of a kind that would give municipalities a fighting chance to expand. It is so bad that it has led to more local-level tax agencies than any other state in the U.S. The awkwardness of annexation procedures and the fostering of rival groups of officials have led to such a proliferation that it is hard to see how the Illinoisans really want—economical, efficient, convenient services.

Despite all of the muddle just described, something still can be done if real estate people sit down and discuss some of the advantages and disadvantages candidly.

In this connection, conferences between Nameoki township officials and Granite City and Madison leaders would be mutually rewarding. At worst, the parties would lose nothing except the time devoted to the discussion. At best, attractive programs for consideration by the public could emerge.

Hospitals Are Assuming Broader Health Roles in Their Communities

As hospitals throughout the nation mark National Hospital Week, May 11-17, it's an appropriate time to observe how rapidly they have been changing lately.

Traditionally, the hospital has focused its attention on providing care for the more seriously ill or injured within its own walls. Being cared for in a hospital usually meant that a person had at least a serious condition and the regimen of care included staying in a hospital bed for a while. The size and effectiveness of a hospital was often measured in terms of how many beds it had.

Today's hospital is attempting to take a broadening range of health services out into the community. With dramatic advances in medical modern facilities and techniques, techniques, techniques and qualified medical personnel are planning together for expanded services including screening and prevention programs, outpatient treatment and rehabilitation, and health education.

Coordination and planning among hospitals and health-oriented organizations and agencies is vital. Improved treatment techniques and qualified medical personnel require the utmost teamwork if they are to be mobilized effectively. Planning frequently calls for the sharing of staffs and cooperative arrangements for the efficient use of specialized treatment facilities and personnel. But the main objective is to work together to improve the whole community's health care delivery system.

The improvements are being seen and felt with the appearance of hospital-sponsored neighborhood health clinics in previously-neglected neighborhoods, and health care programs for people who do not need the intensive care provided within the hospital.

The community hospital is becoming more than just an inpatient institution. It is a community organization developing new ways to deliver optimum health services to all the people.

Are the 1972 Nominations Already Decided?

We earlier cited Senator Edward M. Kennedy's elevation to assistant majority leader and the split between former Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chicago Mayor Daley as virtually assuring the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination for EMK.

Senator Edmund S. Muskie, the 1968 vice-presidential nominee who has been on an extensive speaking tour to sound out his own presidential prospects, apparently agrees with our thinking—and is not happy about it. He comments, "There are real forces at work in the ranks of the defeated party an accepted candidate, four years in advance. And in this case it is assumed he will not only be nominated but that he will win."

The Massachusetts senator with the famous name also seems to have a believer out of the Republicans, who are singling him out in many of the partisan comments that are traditionally exchanged in Washington but that are usually concurred in the even-numbered (national election) years.

Hope to Combine Shots for Youngsters

Life always seems easier, more enlightened, in the next generation. Youngsters once faced a large number of shots to ward off childhood diseases, but times are changing.

The 1969 seminar of the Illinois Academy of General Practices brought out that mixed immunizations against measles, German measles, mumps and smallpox can be administered effectively in one visit with minimum pain, expense. The need for smaller, smaller amounts, when combined have proven to be as efficacious as the single dosage schedules—and give protection just as lasting.

At present, they are only available for investigative purposes, but the combined approach may be authorized for the public in the near future.

And the vaccines today are doing a better job than in the past. Where used in mass child-population studies, the measles vaccine has brought a big reduction in the ordinary mortality rate and a decrease in the illness itself.

FAVORS COUNTY PUBLIC BUILDING COMMISSION

To the Editor:

In regard to your recent article concerning the possible creation of a Public Building Commission, your objection to the effect that it is another means of taking the vote away from the people is almost the very reason I think it should have a Building Commission. For example, the public voted on $200,000 for the Detention House, the first cost will be about $200,000, not to mention

Class of '39 Reunion Re-Set at Alton Hotel

The 39-year reunion of the 1939 January and June graduating classes of Granite City high school will take place Saturday, June 14, at the Stratford Hotel in Alton. It was announced today by Richard Yates, a member of the organizing committee.

The affair previously was to be held at the Granite City Army Depot Officers' Mess, but recent policy changes at the local military installation necessitated finding a new location for the dinner dance, Yates said. About 100 reservations so far have been received from class members, with additional ones expected prior to the June 1 deadline date, Yates noted. A social hour is planned for 6:30 p.m. June 14, followed with dinner and dancing in the Stratford second floor ballroom.

Reservations still are being accepted by Yates, 831-1793; Jon and Melba Tarpoff, 876-2824; Bill and Helen Ann Harris, 877-1123; LaVerne Strotheide, 797-0687; Norm and Lucille Georgeff, 876-1524.

GC Optimist Club Elects McDonald as President

John L. (Jerry) McDonald, a local banking executive, was named president of the Granite City Optimist Club at the annual election meeting Thursday noon. Guest speaker at the luncheon, held in the Rose Bowl restaurant, was Harold Brown, director of parks and recreation for Granite City park district.

The new president was appointed cashier at Granite City Trust & Savings Bank in February 1968, coming here from a similar position at the First National Bank in Champaign. He was a member of the Optimist club in that community and active in Boy Scout work and the Elks lodge.

McDonald, his wife, Eileen, and their three children, reside at 2213 Dawn avenue. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and the University of Wisconsin.

Elected to serve with McDonald for 1969-70 were: Ted Eilerman and Robert E. Geller, vice-presidents; Edward L. Stone, secretary; Rev. James R. Craddock, treasurer; Dr. Scott Hendrickson, sergeant-at-arms; and directors (three year terms)—Donald Z. Farrington, Robert L. Brave and Howard W. Colquitt; and director (two-year terms)—Henry R. Gabriel.

Reporting to Optimist members that a 9.3% increase in overall park activities occurred in the year ending March 31, Supt. Brown said a further upswing in participation in park sponsored programs is anticipated during the current year. In the baseball program alone, he noted, a total of 77 teams has registered so far this spring, surpassing the 68 squads which competed last spring and summer.

Acres in 12 district owned parks now totals 141.4 acres, the park superintendent said. The Wilson Park ice rink pavilion is proving a great asset to the community, he pointed out, noting the number of activities held or planned for the structure in the off season.

Brown said that special physical education classes, including ice skating instruction, were conducted at the facility by the Granite City school system during the past season.

"We attempt to provide programs appealing to all ages," the park official said. He commented that one district sponsored project, of which few people are aware, is the arts and crafts and movie shows furnished for young patients at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He concluded the presentation by showing a series of colored slides, featuring various locations in community filmed from unusual angles, which provided viewers different and varied glimpses of familiar surroundings.

Cunningham presided at the meeting, attended by 30 members and guests, Frank McGinnis and Irvin Miles. Members were reminded of the Optimist district convention, slated for Friday through Sunday at Pekin, during which Steve Stagner of Granite City, winner of the local and zone "Optimist Oratorical Contest," will compete against other district finalists.

"Are Mortgage Interest Rates Too High?"

by Tom B. Scott, Jr., President
United States Savings and Loan League

We have all read a number of stories decrying the "high price of mortgage money"; pitying the overburdened home purchaser; and complaining about "cold financial institutions." But did you ever read a story about the "neglected savers?"

We want to make a case for the savers. After all, it is their savings which make it possible for the people of the United States to have such a high standard of housing. It is their savings which make it possible for us to have one of the world's lowest mortgage interest rates. It is their savings which have enabled private enterprise to provide housing in fantastic quantities. But do you ever read an article to the effect that the saver is entitled to a higher return on his money? No, the role of the saver in our economy is overlooked.

After all, it takes the savings of four savers to provide a borrower with the money he needs to buy a home for himself and his family. Actually, the saver is getting a break in these days of tight money. The earnings have gone up on their savings funds because loanable funds are in short supply. Like any commodity, the price we pay for money goes up as it gets scarce, one of the unforeseen benefits to savers.

Our opinion is that the 44 million savers who save at savings and loans should receive a reasonable return on their savings. We are just as firm in our belief that our own 10 million borrowers should be charged a reasonable interest rate on loans.

Let's look at the borrowers' side. Most savings and loan association borrowers are still paying rates which were prevalent before the current tight money market. In 1968 the average interest rate being paid by all borrowers on all outstanding mortgages held by savings and loan associations was around 6.01%.

Even the borrowers who are financing their homes with savings and loan mortgages in the current tight money market are getting a bargain. The average interest rate paid on mortgages by borrowers at savings and loan associations on new and existing homes during 1968 was 6.90%.

This is less interest than some nationally known corporations are paying to borrow money. As you may know, Aa Utility bonds are considered a yardstick for bond buying and often indicate the trend. Right now Aa Utility bonds which are optionally callable average 7.55% and the five-year callable bonds are now averaging 7.55%.

Specifically, on March 11, a $150 million bond issue by Aaa-rated New York Telephone Company of AT&T cost them 7.47%.

Closer to home, most people borrowing to pay for a car are now paying around 18% true interest.

So you see that, compared to those who borrow for other purposes, the man who borrows for a home is being charged a reasonable interest rate. And the four savers whose money he is using to buy the home are receiving a fair "wage" for their dollars.

We believe it is important to tell this story of the unappreciated savers. This explanation will provide the facts for those who don't know, don't remember, or don't care where their money for home loans comes from. Unfortunately, the uninformed are prone to think it is cash from "heartless corporations," "soulless lending institutions," etc. They never consider that it is the saver (although many are savers themselves) whose labor, denials, and prudent money-management accumulate the dollars to make such loans possible.

So, let's give some tribute—and fair profit—to the people who own the over 100-million savings accounts held by all types of financial institutions in the United States—the people whose important role is too often overlooked.

Venice '68-69 Cost Up—So Was Revenue

Expenditures for operational costs in the city of Venice during the 1968-69 fiscal year totaled $207,093 in all funds, an increase of $76,286 over costs of the previous year, a report by Comptroller Carl Byrnes showed today.

Most of the increased cost for the fiscal year ending April 30 was in the general fund where 1968-69 expenses totaled $401,594, up $68,913 over $332,681 in general fund costs during the 1967-68 fiscal. Virtually all general city operations, including the police, fire, street and sanitation departments are paid out of the general fund.

In the city's four special accounts, which include the library, police pension, working fund, and municipal retirement funds, disbursements for the fiscal year just ended amounted to $88,173, compared to $73,791 during the previous 1967-68 year, the report shows.

On the credit side of the city's fiscal picture, however, was a substantial increase in tax revenue from 1968-69 year which more than offset the higher costs.

Tax Revenue Up

The report shows that tax income during the 1968-69 year totaled $484,341, an increase of $102,921 over tax revenues of the previous year. While regular corporate tax income from tax collections in 1968 gave the city to Venice $407,663, compared to $374,254 during the previous year, a considerable increase in revenue resulted from settlement of old tax objections which added $68,335 to the city treasury in the year just ended.

During the 1967-68 year, income from settlement of tax objections amounted to only $10,677.

For the previous year the 1968-69 year included $8317 as the city's share of the Venice township road and bridge tax. For the previous year this income amounted to $6099.

The city's revenue from other sources also increased generally throughout the last year. Fines collected for the city in criminal cases handled by the police department amounted to $8087, compared to $6154 of the previous year, while tavern license revenue fell off slightly to a total of $3725 compared to $4225 of the previous year. Receipts from truck delivery increased, however, from $2405 in the 1967-68 year to $3370 last year.

Higher License Revenue

City auto license revenue last year also increased to a total of $3683, compared to $3045. Other revenue during the 1968-69 year included: building permits, $47; Illinois sales tax, $17,010; reimbursement for maintenance of arterial streets, $1495. The city also had a $71,540 balance at the beginning of the fiscal year on May 1, 1968.

Major increases in operational expense are shown in the street department and the fire department. Cost of operating the police department during the last year amounted to $119,998, up only $3000 over the previous year. The fire department's expense, however, the purchase of a new $32,000 fire truck, $107,235 of the total expense was in salaries, while salary costs in the fire department, a volunteer unit, amounted to $33,824 under a system of paying firemen for the calls they make. Expenses of the Venice street department during the year just ended totaled $56,771, up $12,554 over the $44,217 cost of the previous year. Most of this increase was in labor cost which totaled $39,154 in salaries for the year just ended, compared to $28,871 for the same purpose during the previous year.

Salaries Up Slightly

Salaries of city officials totaled $23,015 during the year just ended, up only slightly over the $20,990 of the previous year. Cost of supplies for city officials remained virtually unchanged at $7839. Last year it was $7730. Other general fund expenditures during the 1968-69 year, with comparative costs of the previous year in parentheses, are: City hall $7033 ($7744); Legal department, $4022 ($3665); Sanitary and health $8064 ($7718); Garbage collection $40,577 ($45,100); Light $10,979 ($8318); Water $17 ($153); Insurance $15,422 ($13,488); Printing $630 ($752); Publications $554 ($800); Elections $1337 ($292); Sewer repair $3878 ($1905); Audit $630 ($630); Contingent $8180 ($502); Civil Defense $600 ($600); Maintenance of streets $9445 ($8009); 2% Fire Insurance $1700 ($600). Expenses out of the Library fund for the year just ended amounted to $25,381 compared to $19,003 during the 1967-68 year, while payments of $42,813 went into the police pension fund compared to $34,032 the previous year. Payments into the working cash fund amounted to $12,307, compared to $9348 the previous year. Contributions to the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund cost the city $17,781 compared to $10,692 during the previous year.

The report shows a balance of $572,203 in the McKinley bridge revenue fund as of the end of the 1968-69 fiscal year April 30, with $450,000 of it invested in time saving certificates. This fund is conserved to pay the city's share of the Broadway underpass project. Other fund balances at the end of the year included $21,642 in the motor fuel tax fund, $43,337 in the working cash fund, $11,000 in the Veterans Housing fund, $729 in the library building fund, and $2091 in the main street building fund.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION
TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Take notice that on the 5th day of May, 1969, a petition was filed under the Juvenile Court Act by Amerik A. Kachigian, Ass't. State's Attorney in Circuit Court of Madison County entitled "In the interest of Daniel Tubbs, a minor", and as such thereafter as this cause may be heard, an adjudicatory hearing will be held upon the petition to have the child declared to be a ward of the court under that Act. The court has authority in the proceeding to take from you the custody and guardianship of the minor, and to appoint a guardian with power to consent to adoption of the minor.

Now, unless you appear at the hearing and show cause against the petition, the petition may be taken for confessed as against you and each of you, and an order, judgment or decree entered.

Gun Charges Against Man with 'Flower' Hat

A man wearing a hat with flowers and a necklace who flourished a gun at a Granite City service station was taken into custody along with a companion about 4 a.m. Saturday by Madison police.

An attendant at the Clark Service station, 20th street and Madison avenue, notified Granite City police of the incident at 3:50 a.m. and said the two men in a green car with California license plates were headed toward Madison.

Madison police spotted the car parked in the 1200 block of Madison avenue and saw two men come out of a building and climb in it. They were stopped at 12th street, and police found a .32 caliber automatic pistol under the passenger seat in front of the driver and a bottle of beer and a pint of wine on the front seat.

Coupon books, containing $25 worth of coupons, are now available for $20, according to Ernest A. Karandjeff and Mrs. Vasil Elitmofo, co-chairmen of ticket sales for the local area.

Festival coupon books may be purchased at the four Quad-City banks — Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, American National Bank, First National Bank in Madison; and First Granite City National Bank. Additional outlets for tickets and coupon book sales are being arranged, it was learned.

Ticket prices will range from $5.50 for boxes to $1.50 for seats on the lawn for all performances, except the Joan Baez folk concert for which the top price will be $2.

In addition to Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening concerts by the St. Louis Symphony, top pop, rock and folk artists will be featured during weekday events.

Folk artists Buffy Sainte-Marie, Joni Mitchell, Arlo Guthrie, Ian and Sylvia and Joan Baez will bring their talents to the Festival site. Pop and rock groups will include the Janis Joplin Review, Iron Butterfly, Butterfield Blues Band, Richie Havens and The Band, from Big Pink.

Hospital Week Features Special Activities

This year, National Hospital Week is emphasizing the community aspects of today's health care and St. Elizabeth Hospital joins with other area institutions in celebrating the occasion with special events at the local hospital and by stressing its interest in community-wide health care.

Activities planned during National Hospital Week, to be observed through Saturday, include the St. Elizabeth Hospital Nurses Alumni Tea, 7 to 10 p.m. tomorrow; a breakfast buffet, honoring local physicians, at 7:30 a.m. Thursday; and the traditional service awards program and a dinner, recognizing hospital personnel, scheduled for 6 p.m. Wednesday, in the Wiesman room at the hospital.

During Wednesday's recognition program, Granite City Mayor Donald Patsy will present service pins to 73 employees, including one person employed by the hospital more than 20 years; eight for a period of 15 years; 14 ten-year employees and 50 with five years' service.

Pancake Dinner
Additionally, the hospital's public relations committee will sponsor its annual "Pancake and Sausage Dinner" Wednesday in the hospital cafeteria, serving from 4:30 p.m. through 7:30 p.m.

The event is open to the public, with donations of $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children accepted at the door. Advance tickets also may be purchased for the "all you can eat" affair, a hospital spokesman said.

National Hospital Day was established in 1920 by the American Hospital Association to focus attention on the work St. Elizabeth Hospital employees are performing in providing high quality year-around care in the community. A second purpose was to tell the public about the human side of hospital life and objectives.

Initially, May 12 was designated as Hospital Day, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, whose efforts led to the improvement of the hospital system in both England and America.

In 1953, the one-day anniversary was extended to a week-long observance and renamed National Hospital Week.

Hospital Functions
Until recently, the activities of most hospitals were centered almost exclusively on the care of patients within the institution. Hospitals and their medical staffs across the nation are now going beyond the traditional provision of in-patient services and are expanding their services and programs to diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation, education and prevention.

Sister Mary Thomas, St. Elizabeth Hospital administrator notes. Programs in which the local hospital participates, include the Alcoholics Rehabilitation Community House; outpatient care; heart clinic; immunization clinic; social work; mental health clinic; community and area-wide health planning and the Social Concerns Council of the Quad-Cities.

Theme for 1969 National Hospital Week — "Your Hospital — Pathway to Progress in Community Health" — reflects the interest and expansion of services evident in the community in programs supported by the St. Elizabeth administrative and medical staffs, it was pointed out.
